SALT DRIFTERS ARE DOING WELL

Two Crafts Here This Morning Each Hailing for 60,000 Pounds.

Two more of the salt drifters are here this morning, both with trips of 60,000 pounds each of salt cod, among the finest of the season. They are schs. Eugenia, Capt. John Williams and Ralph Russell, Capt. Leander Phalen. More pollock and herring were landed yesterday afternoon and evening, the former going to split, while the herring was taken by the bait buyers. Less than 10,000 pounds mixed fish was the total landed by the gill netters yesterday. The dogfish are commencing to show up more plentiful, although as yet, they have not been a serious menace to the fishermen.

Today's Arrivals and Receipts.

The arrivals and receipts in detail are:

CORKUM'S CREW GOT $329 EACH

Biggest Share Ever Made by Mackerel Seiner in Southern Season—No Schools on Cape Shore Yet—Many Netters at Newport.

Each of the crew of steamer Lois H. Corkum, Capt. William Corkum, received yesterday afternoon $329.01 as their share of the stock of $3285.74 made south this spring. This is the best share ever made on a southern mackerel trip by a seiner. The large share is accounted for by the fact that the steamer does not carry as men as the larger schooners.

Capt. Corkum will return to the southward instead of going to the Cape Shore. Capt. Elroy Prior in steamer Thelma has also decided to stay south instead of making the Cape Shore trip. Capt. Corkum as well as his crew were kept busy yesterday acknowledging congratulations on breaking all previous big share records.

No School on Cape Shore Yet.

A letter from D. G. Mulhall of Liverpool, N. S., to the Times, says that sch. Romance, Capt. Almon D. Mallock arrived at that port Wednesday, being the first seiner of the season to put in there. Capt. Mallock arrived directly from the south and reports bad weather the past week and saw no fish. No mackerel have yet been reported off the Nova Scotia coast.

STR. NASHAWENA SOLD TO PORTLAND

The Portland fishing fleet received an addition Thursday through the purchase by the F. S. Willard Co. of the staunch little steamer Nashawena, which has been fishing out of this port off and on for several months. The steamer registers 43 gross tons, is 65 feet long and 15 feet beam, was built at Boston in 1889 and was sold to the local firm by the New England Fisheries Company of Gloucester. She will engage this season in seining for herring and mackerel under the command of Capt. F. M. McKown, one of the best known fishermen on the coast.

The beam trawler East Hampton came in at Portland from her maiden trip Thursday, bringing only 30,000 pounds of fish, hardly enough to make a good sized chowder. The fish were disposed of to local dealers at Central wharf. The catch was made in the South Channel, fish being reported very scarce. After icing up the steamer proceeded to sea again, hoping for better luck on her next trip.

THEY'VE STRUCK ON CAPE SHORE

Times' Reliable Correspondent Reports Mackerel Schools There—Nets at Yarmouth and Little Hope Take Fish—Shipment at Boston.

Mackerel made their first real appearance on the Cape Shore, Saturday when 30 barrels were taken in the traps at Yarmouth. In a despatch to the Times from Liverpool, D. C. Mulhall wires that quite a body of fish is passing along the coast there, and the netters are taking fish off Little Hope.

The first shipments of Cape Shore mackerel arrived at Boston on the Yarmouth steamer this morning, which brought 29 barrels.

Sch. Corona arrived at Liverpool, Saturday, coming direct from the south via Newport. Capt. Keating reports seeing no fish since leaving the latter port.

An incoming coaster to Liverpool, N. S., reports seeing no fish to the westward. The weather was fine.

GOOD WEEK AT FULTON MARKET

Last week was a good one for the wholesale trade in the salt water fish market, as there was a good deal of fish to be had at low prices, the variety, too, being quite large. Receipts by boat were large, the total arrivals being then 1,590,340 pounds of fish, including fresh mackerel. The largest catch was bluefish, of which 606,400 pounds was made by 14 vessels. The next largest item was fresh mackerel, which at an average weight of three pounds each, reached 497,400 pounds. Fresh mackerel—Bloaters sold at a shilling to 35c and medium fish at 1-2 to 20c. There were no small mackerel in this market.

Pollock was quoted to 2 1-2 to 3c. Sales of Western white halibut were made at 7 to 8c a pound. Eastern whitefish, during the last half of the week sold at a shilling a pound.

Two to 3c was the price of hake. There was very little haddock in the market. Sales were made at 3 to 4c a pound.

Cod was low in price throughout the week. Steak fish sold at 4 to 5c from Monday on, with 3 to 4c the price on Saturday. Market cod was quoted at 2c, with the exceptions of Thursday and Friday, when the price was 2 to 2 1-2c.

Bluefish was very cheap on large and medium sizes. Sales of the former were made at 4 1-2 to 5c during the entire week. Medium fish was quoted at 6 to 7c and small fish at 10 to 12c.

POLLOCK NOW IN BIG SCHOOLS

One Little Steamer Loaded Herself and Another From One Set.

Pollock in good sized schools are being taken by the fleet of small steamers and yesterday afternoon, some nice trips were landed. The fish seem to be schooling everywhere, being taken off Half Way Rock, Thacher's and Ipswich Bay.

The Newburyport craft, Beatrice E., Capt. Thurlow, set around a monster school yesterday. After filling her hold, deck, dory and seine boat, Capt. Thurlow turned over what was left in the seine to the Alice. The Beatrice E. weighed out 35,000 pounds while the Alice had 18,000 pounds. All the trips landed yesterday went to split.

Outside of the Oriole from halibut-ting, the only other fares were schs. James and Esther, via Boston, 60,000 pounds fresh fish and Alice, 35,000 pounds.
